

ISRAELI authorities reported Friday that their troops had invaded Syria at the area marked by an "X". Burst symbols indicate the areas where Egypt and Syria claimed Israel ignored the cease-fire. Egypt also said that Israeli troops attacked Egyptian forces near the Suez Canal. Shaded areas show the Arab regions the Israelis claim to have captured. Syria said Friday night that Israeli armored units had begun a drive on Damascus, (underlined), from Massadeh.

Q. I've heard that handling a dead rattlesnake can be as dangerous as handling a live one — is this true? Mrs. G. S. Lakewood.

A. Just about. William R. Turner, assistant curator of reptiles for the Los Angeles Zoo, told ACTION LINE, "Snakes have reflex actions even after they've been killed, so they can still bite. Even a severed snake head can have a biting reaction." The best thing to do is to leave snakes alone—especially rattlers," Turner says. "Most people are bitten trying to kill a snake instead of just moving slowly away when they see one." Spring is when you're most likely to run across a snake sunning itself after a winter's hibernation.

Q. My neighbor — confined to a wheelchair since childhood — is trying to keep his family together until his wife recovers from major surgery. Their funds are running low. His only way of getting around is an electric cart and now its battery has gone dead. Can you help him get some batteries without a down payment? L. M. H., Long Beach.

A. Yes, Wilfred Billard, owner of B & Z Electric Car, 1418 W. 17th St., Long Beach, says his firm will check your friend's car and sell him a set of batteries with no down payment and monthly payments scaled to his income. Call Billard at HE 6-2419 to make arrangements. Mention ACTION LINE.

Q. I'm a bicycling counselor for Long Beach Boy Scouts, and one of their merit badges requires them to complete a 50-mile bike ride, but there's no place to make such a ride in this area. When will the bike trails planned for El Dorado Park be completed? C. T. N., Long Beach.

A. There's no specific target date for completion of the bikeway, since they must be integrated into the entire park development program, says Duane George, associate director of municipal recreation. "It wouldn't make any sense to plan bits and pieces of bike trails before engineering and landscaping details have been worked out," he explains. Although neither Long Beach nor Los Angeles has bike trails, Orange County's Irvine Park has many miles of winding, hilly paths you might want to use for the badge requirement.

Q. I'm a U.S. Marine, serving with the corps in Chu Lai, South Vietnam. Many units over here have state flags flying from their huts, but we from California don't have one. Can you tell me where I might be able to get a flag?

Q. I've heard that Jim Lefebvre, third baseman for the Los Angeles Dodgers, is going to play a policeman in an upcoming Hollywood movie. Please give me some information on this. L. G., Long Beach.

A. We threw this curve to former Dodger utility man Lee Walls, who now is Lefebvre's agent. Walls says the Dodger infielder does play a good-guy patrolman in "Riot on Sunset Strip," an MGM release produced by Sam Katzman. Another Dodger, outfielder Al (the Bull) Ferrara, portrays a bouncer at a teen-age nightclub. Fellow Dodgers who saw the first screening of the movie in Florida this spring carefully scrutinized the talent of Lefebvre and Ferrara and there were no audible raspberries, Walls says. That's probably because the two athletes have had previous experience — both have appeared on "Gilligan's Island" and "Batman" on TV, Walls says.

Israelis Encircle Damascus; U.N. in Emergency Session

Russian Blasts Invasion

NEW YORK (UPI) Saturday — The United Nations met in emergency session at 4 a.m. New York time today, and the Russian delegate immediately launched into a severe criticism of Israel for its invasion of Syria.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israel and the Arab nations Friday night accused each other in the U.N. of cease-fire violations in the Middle East war. Syria reported that massed Israeli tanks and armor had started a drive on Damascus from Massadeh, inside the Syrian frontier.

Syrian Ambassador George J. Tkomeh told the Security Council he received word of the alleged Israeli military move from Syrian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Makhous in the Syrian capital.

Both sides reported continued heavy fighting despite orders to the military commanders to silence their guns.

Israeli Ambassador Gideon Rafael denied the alleged Israeli armored assault. He assured the council that "no armed columns are advancing on Damascus."

The charges and countercharges were followed by official Security Council appeals to Secretary General Thant, led by the Soviet Union, that he obtain a factual report from U.N. observers on the fighting between Israel and Syria.

The council also demanded that Israel restore its Jerusalem headquarters to the U.N. observation force.

The council adjourned after the heated debate in which both Arabs and Israelis hurled words as hot as the news from the front lines.

Earlier, Thant told the council members that both Syria and Israel had assured him that three separate U.N. cease-fire orders had been sent to military commanders in the field.

THE COUNCIL also unanimously approved its third cease-fire call in three days and demanded again that Israel and Syria end their fighting immediately. "I have just received information from my Foreign minister that the attack from Massadeh already has started," Tkomeh said.

At the insistence of Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko, who won British and French support, the council approved a motion to ask Israel and the Arabs to give all possible cooperation to U.N. observers and permit them freedom of movement.

No action was taken on a two-pronged U.S. proposal calling on Thant to conduct

U.A.R. PRESIDENT NASSER TELLS PEOPLE OF RESIGNATION, LATER REJECTED

NASSER DREAM FOREVER LOST

Finis for United Arab World

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Nothing could dramatize the extent of the Arab world's humiliation at the hands of Israel so much as Gamal Abdel Nasser tottering on his pinnacle as Arab leader. It means the defeat of Arabdom is complete.

Nasser said his decision to quit would be subject to discussion in Egypt's National Assembly today. But one way or the other, it appeared Nasser had reached the end of the road. And that indicates new woes for the Arab world, new troubles for the big powers in their search for stability in that sensitive part of the world.

Nasser, for all his shortcomings, has been a world figure. No Arab on the stage at this moment could take his place or even approach the stature he has enjoyed. That means a prospective vacuum of leadership promising turmoil.

The history of Nasser is a history of tragedy. He was the personification of Arab dreams—in a modern world —of recapturing some of their lost ancient glories.

The search for a pan-Arab identity, and elusive goal, was the motivation behind Nasser. He described his Egypt as being at the center of two geographic circles, the Arab world and Africa.

"For some reason," he wrote, "it seems that in the Arab circle there is a role wandering aimlessly." He tried to fill that role. Nationalists rallied to him because he had thumbed his nose at the United States and the West, whom the Arabs blamed not only for the creation of Israel but for virtually all their miseries.

Nasser was able to rally the Arab nationalists, though he made many enemies in doing it. He plagued the existence of King Hussein of Jordan and the royal house of Saudi Arabia. He was behind the scenes of many a crisis, many a coup, many a revolutionary uprising.

Nasser was a thorn in the side of Britain and France when he nationalized the Suez Canal in 1956 and provoked them to conspire with Israel to attack and humiliate them. The idea then was to bring Nasser down. It failed, first because of Soviet and American intervention and second because the participation of Paris and London in the plot excused Nasser's defeat and made him a hero all over again.

HE SEIZED the canal, he made it stick and he made it run efficiently in spite of all the gloomy predictions.

There would have been cheering in Europe and America 11 years ago if Nasser had fallen then. The cheers are likely to be more muted now since it will compound the confusion left by the war. Not the least of the dangers, it likely will generate revolutionary unrest in other Arab areas against existing regimes.

That means that in the long run, Nasser's fall could hurt those in the West who once were eager to see him down. It could mean additional threat to the oil Western Europe gets from the Arab East, should the departure of Nasser set off a chain reaction.

The Arabs will be feeling betrayed on all sides, the revolutionaries among them prey to desperation.

For Egypt, the defeat in the war and the fall of the man revered by many fellow-countrymen—spell more tragedy. Even though he spent much of the country's wealth on arms, he tried also to point it toward the day when it would be lifted from the ranks of sick nations.

Girl Killing Admitted by L.A. Sniper

TORRANCE (CNS) — Alleged freeway sniper Peter Nick Thoma Jr. Friday pleaded guilty to the Christmas Day slaying of a 19-year-old Los Angeles girl.

But Torrance Superior Court Judge Allen Miller, who ruled Thoma currently sane, ordered the 23-year-old unemployed machinist to return to court June 30 for a sanity hearing to determine the man's mental state last Dec. 25.

Thoma originally had pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity. He changed the first part of his plea Friday, but retained the second.

Thoma, of Los Angeles, is accused of fatally shooting Barbara Jones as she walked away from a party Christmas morning.

He was arrested five days later when sheriff's deputies discovered him hiding in the attic of his home.

Liquor Store Bandit Shot, Wounded Twice by Owner

A bandit who held up a Long Beach liquor store with a carbon dioxide pistol was shot and wounded by the store owner Friday as he tried to rob a customer.

The gunman had already cleaned out the cash register at the MI liquor store, 725 E. Fourth St., and robbed the owner, a clerk and another customer when he was shot.

The wounded man, who gave his name as Jack Brown to St. Mary's Hospital nurses, was in serious condition with two neck wounds after the 8:15 p.m. holdup attempt. Lt. John C. Cowan said the suspect carried no identification.

The store owner, Arch Jenkins, 58, told police the gunman forced him and clerk Donald Spellman, 36, to lie on the floor near the counter after they handed over bills, change and checks from the cash register.

When William McCaffrey, 42, entered the store, the robber told him to empty his wallet and join the pair on the floor.

Then, officer Dave Caven said, the bandit approached a second customer entering the store and Jenkins grabbed a .25-caliber revolver from under the counter. He fired twice and the robber, clutching $317, fell to the floor 12 feet away.

The second customer fled

OAK VIEW (AP) — The Oak View Little League figured it had lost $100 in baseballs in a fenced lot owned by William C. Ulrich.

BRAVE NEW CLASS

Four Against The World

The orchestra played, the faculty marched, the speakers spoke — even a scrounging, brown mongrel got into the act, barking loudly at the assemblage — but it still took only an hour Friday night for California State College, Dominguez Hills, to graduate its first class.

It was easy. There were only four graduates.

The four — William Hart, Sharon Chambers, Othilie Moritz and Pamela Striplin — couldn't have been prouder if they'd been receiving masters degrees. (Details on the commencement are on Page B-1.)

Egyptians Call Back Leader

TEL AVI Saturday (UPI) — Military reports said today Israeli troops had pushed deep into Syria and encircled Damascus.

United Press International President Gamal Abdel Nasser said he was quitting in the face of the humiliating Israeli victory in the Mideast war, but Egypt's national assembly rejected the resignation early Saturday. Wild pro-Nasser demonstrations swept Egypt and bitter fighting was reported in Syria despite cease-fire agreements.

The Soviet Union and six of its Communist allies in Europe issued an ultimatum demanding Israeli forces withdraw from all occupied Arab territory. The Moscow declaration raised the possibility of military intervention on the Arab side.

Israeli tanks and infantry, supported by air strikes that included fiery napalm raids, thrust into Syria Friday and were reported to have reached a point 40 miles south of Damascus, the capital.

The United Nations issued a third cease-fire demand and both sides issued orders to stop fighting, then accused each other of violating the truce as the war raged into its sixth day.

Reports on Israeli-Syrian fighting were confused by censorship. Reports from the front said Israeli forces drove 15 miles into Syrian territory and bombed targets near the Sea of Galilee to silence guns bombarding Israeli border settlements.

Syrian diplomats at an emergency session of the U.N. charged that Israeli tanks were driving in force toward Damascus, from Massadeh inside Syria. U.N. observers reported that Israeli planes bombed Damascus and rained fiery napalm on a Syrian village.

ISRAELI OFFICIALS denied any march on Damascus or an air strike against the city, and rejected Egyptian charges that Cairo was hit by Israeli planes Friday night. News dispatches from Cairo said there were no air raids.

The Moscow ultimatum demanding an Israeli withdrawal from Syria, Jordan and Egypt was issued early Saturday, following a secret summit meeting of the leaders of the Soviet Union, Hungary, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Yugoslavia.

SAIGON—Communist gunners raked the U.S. defensive perimeter around Pleiku City with a 30-minute mortar attack early today, hitting hardest at American artillery positions. A U.S. military spokesman at the central highlands city said two Americans were killed and 35 wounded. Thirty-four of the wounded were from the 52nd Artillery Group, whose big howitzers lie in the extreme northwestern portion of the Pleiku defensive area. The attack, launched in predawn hours during extremely bad weather, was the second against a government-held city in a little more than two days. Late Thursday the Communists hit the northern city of Hue with about 50 rounds of mortar fire. Overall, however, the week-long lull in ground fighting persisted across South Vietnam while U.S. planes pounded targets in the North and South. U.S. fliers ranged deep into enemy country to strike at the Kep railroad yard 38 miles northeast of Hanoi, and a highway bridge 28 miles northeast of the Communist capital, the Ba Le rail yard 50 miles northeast of Hanoi, and a rail highway bridge 34 miles northeast of the capital. Korea Vote-Rigging Charged SEOUL — South Korea's ruling party won overwhelming victory in parliamentary elections this weekend, and the opposition immediately charged that the voting had been rigged. Unofficial results gave as many as 129 seats in the National Assembly to the Democratic Republican Party of President Park Chung-hee.

Gibraltar Talks Break Down

MADRID — Anglo-Spanish negotiations over airspace restrictions around Gibraltar have broken down after four days of meetings here. Spain has refused to lift the flying ban on civilian airliners in most of the area adjacent to the colony unless Britain agreed to cease her military use of the Gibraltar airport.

Mideast Crisis at a Glance

CAIRO — President Gamal Abdel Nasser, humiliated by Israeli victories, resigned but Egypt's national assembly rejected the move and Nasser was reconsidering. Wild pro-Nasser demonstrations swept Egypt.

JERUSALEM — Israeli troops supported by air strikes that were reported to have included napalm raids plunged into Syria and drove to within 40 miles of Damascus. On the southern front, Israel claimed it crushed an Egyptian tank force near the Suez Canal.

UNITED NATIONS — Israel and Syria accused each other of wholesale violations of the U.N. ceasefire, and Syria reported that Israeli tanks and armor were driving toward Damascus. Israel denied it.

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union and six of its Communist allies in Eastern Europe issued a threatening ultimatum demanding that Israel stop fighting immediately and withdraw from all the territory it has seized from Arab states. The Moscow declaration did not exclude military intervention.

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department said 33 Americans may have been killed in the Israeli attack on a U.S. Navy communications ship in the Mediterranean Sea. Nine Americans were known to have died, and 24 others were listed as missing. Seventy-five sailors were wounded.

Draft Quota Raised by 9,000 Men

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department announced Friday that 29,000 men will be drafted into the Army in August, 9,100 more than in July. It said the big jump in the draft call would support "previously planned and announced force level" — in other words, it did not mean a sudden new buildup. The department said it had requested Selective Service to provide 29,000 men in August to "assure a timely flow of replacements for men completing their terms of service." Monthly draft calls for this year have been: January, 15,600; February, 10,900; April, 11,400; May, 18,000; June, 19,800, and July, 19,900.

Johnson TV Station Probe

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission is considering a complaint against President Johnson's family television interests in Austin, Tex., papers on file at the FCC showed Friday. Southwest Republic Corp., which owns KHFI-TV, says the Johnson interests, owners of the much larger KTBC-TV and of a half interest in community antenna television system (CATV), are attempting "to undercut any degree of effective competition in the Austin television market." KTBC is Austin's only very high frequency television station. It operates on Channel 7 and is affiliated with all three major networks—ABC, CBS, NBC.

KHFI is a small station on ultra-high frequency Channel 42. It has no network affiliation. Another UHF station is preparing to begin operations on Channel 24. KTBC is owned by the Texas Broadcasting Corp., which is 52.8 per cent owned by Lady Bird Johnson. Each of the President's daughters has a 15.4 per cent interest in it. Texas Broadcasting also owns 50 per cent of Capital Cable Co., a CATV system which holds a franchise from the city of Austin.

Storms Rake 8 States

Tornadoes, hailstorms and heavy rain blasted an eight-state area from the Rocky Mountains to the Midwest late Friday. Tornadoes and slashing rain swept across southeastern Nebraska Friday night causing extensive property damage. There were no deaths. A tornado churned through an area 15 miles south of Lincoln, uprooting trees and demolishing at least two houses. Violent thunderstorms ravaged southeastern Wisconsin. Wind gusts as strong as 81 miles an hour were reported near La Crosse, where hundreds of trees were toppled. Hail piled as high as 6 inches. A string of tornadoes swooped out of black skies over Denver, ripping roofs from buildings, scattering cars and blowing down trees. No injuries were reported. In Wyoming strong winds tore off roofs near Casper. Heavy rain accompanied by tornadoes and violent winds hit Iowa for the fifth straight day.

Seminole Win Land War

WASHINGTON — The Seminole Indians scored a major victory Friday in a long legal war with the U.S. Government over land taken from them more than 100 years ago. The Seminoles, the federal Claims Court here decided unanimously, have established their original ownership of almost all of Florida—32 million acres—and must be paid accordingly. The payments may total as much as $40 million if the case is finally settled in the Indians' favor.

School Racial Law Upheld

BOSTON—The Massachusetts Supreme Court, in strong language, Friday declared the state's school racial balance law constitutional and sharply criticized the Boston School Committee which sought to have the statute ruled illegal. The unanimous decision attacked the committee for seeming "bent on stifling the act before it has a fair chance to become fully operative."

Dr. King Opens Campaign

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Dr. Martin Luther King announced a program to get more jobs for the Negro, organize tenant unions, spur voter registration and improve police-community relations in Cleveland. Dr. King's four-point program: (1) A massive drive to organize tenant unions to bargain for improved housing conditions; (2) "Operation Breadbasket," to go through "the ghetto and the city as a whole, negotiating with business and industries and insisting that they give the Negro a fair and square deal in jobs"; (3) A block-by-block volunteer campaign of voter registration and voter education; (4) An improvement in police-community relations.

New Mexico Rebel Hunt

COYOTE, N.M. — Uniformed and plainclothes state policemen searched house-to-house at a New Mexico village for a fugitive band of Spanish-Americans blamed for wounding two policemen at a courthouse Monday. No new leads were reported, however, in the search for Reyes Lopez Tijerina, 40, of Albuquerque, the leader, his brother, Cristobal, and two other members of the former federal alliance of land grants. About 10 state policemen converged on Coyote northwest of Santa Fe after Reyes Tijerina was reported seen in and out of the village in the past few days.

Retail Sales Up Slightly

WASHINGTON — Retail sales continued their modest improvement in May. Total retail sales were estimated at $26.1 billion for the month, after adjustment for seasonal factors and the different number of business days in each month, one-half of one per cent above the April level and 7 per cent above those of May 1966.

Teachers Blacklist School

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. — The public school system here was blacklisted as a place to work Friday in bulletins distributed by the local and state teachers associations, affiliates of the National Education Association. The action was taken after the 730 teachers had failed to get $700 pay increases.

Rubber Plant Strike Continues

AKRON, Ohio — United Rubber Workers Union leaders have termed the latest industry offers inadequate, and there was no sign Friday of a break in the 50-day-old strike against three of the five major rubber producers. Officials said members are "strong in their determination to win a better contract" than wage increases of 38 cents an hour over the next three years offered by the companies.

few days" the spokesman said "to check the results of antibiotic drug therapy, begun four weeks ago for a mild bladder infection."

He was given a complete examination at the hospital last Dec. 9 and was given a clean bill of health. The vice president's office said Humphrey "has been maintaining his normal schedule during the past six weeks and expects to resume it following his stay at Bethesda."

Humphrey will occupy an executive suite similar to the one Johnson stayed in, but on a different floor.

MODERATOR

The Rev. Marshall Coleman Dendy, whose family is steeped in Southern Presbyterian tradition, defeated his third cousin by a single vote Friday in Bristol, Tenn., to become moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

The General Assembly commissioners, or delegates, cast 226 votes for the Rev. Dr. Dendy and 225 for Dr. Patrick D. Miller, guest professor of homiletics at the Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga. Dr. Dendy, 65, has been executive secretary of the church's Board of Christian Education in Richmond, Va., for the past 14 years. The new moderator and his cousin both were born in Franklin County, which Dr. Dendy describes as "a red clay county in North Georgia."

EMPIRE'S BEST

One of Britain's brightest young actresses and one of the nation's veterans of the stage were picked for honors by Queen Elizabeth II today along with a top atom scientist and two men who rowed across the Atlantic.

Vanessa Redgrave, 30-year-old Oscar nominee this year for the best actress award, was made a Commander of the British Empire in awards given annually on the queen's official birthday.

Gladys Cooper, 77, a stage actress for 61 years, and a pin-up girl during World War I, was made a Dame of the British Empire. This is equivalent to a knighthood and outranks the award to Miss Redgrave. Sir William Penney, Britain's leading atom scientist, was created a life peer.

Paratroopers Capt. John Ridgway and Sgt. Shay Blyth, who rowed 3,000 miles across the Atlantic in 91 days in an open boat, also were honored. Ridgway became a Member of the British Empire, lowest grade in the order, and Blyth was awarded the British Empire Medal.

A total of 702 persons from all walks of British and Commonwealth life received awards which are conferred by the queen for outstanding service. Others included:

Walter McGowan, one of the greatest boxers Scotland has ever produced, and holder of the British and Empire bantamweight championships, was made a Member of the British Empire.

Gareth Owen, world snooker champion who first won the title in 1963 and successfully defended it last year in Karachi, Member of the British Empire.

ROYAL KNEES

With her hemline swaying above her trim, royal knees, Crown Princess Margrethe toured Copenhagen with her handsome diplomat fiancé Friday on the eve of their wedding.

Danes exclaimed over the dress and applauded the man, French-born Count Henri de Monpezat, when the couple went through a round of ceremonies. It will be Denmark's first full-blown royal wedding this century. King Frederik IX, who will give his daughter away in Copenhagen's 248-year-old royal Holmens Church, married Queen Ingrid in Sweden.

Margrethe, 27, and her husband-to-be, who will be 33 Sunday, delighted Danes with their informality Friday. It was the tall, shapely princess's first public appearance in a dress that, while not a miniskirt, did not cover her knees.

Prince Gonzalo de Borbon, grandson of the last king of Spain, filed a $25,000 damage suit Friday in San Francisco against Nob Hill heiress Dolly Fritz for return of an engagement ring. The prince charged the now Mrs. Newton Cope with violating an agreement to return the heirloom ring after he dropped an earlier suit against her. The prince claimed the ring he received was not the one he had given her and asked $10,000 as the value of the jewelry and $15,000 in punitive damages.

Brown Renews Demo Feud, Blasts Unruh as 'Deserter' in '66 Drive

By BILL BOYARSKY
SACRAMENTO (AP)—Former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown renewed his feud with Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh Friday as Democrats and Republicans arrived in Sacramento for weekend meetings.

Executive committees of the Democratic and Republican State Central Committees scheduled Saturday sessions.

The Republicans are meeting at a hotel just across the street from the Capitol they occupied in January with the inauguration of Gov. Reagan.

DEMOCRATS, tossed out of power after eight years, are meeting in a hotel several miles north in a suburb.

Brown, beaten by Reagan by almost a million votes, strode into the hotel a day early for a speech to Northern California Democratic women and promptly showed newsmen that his party's feuding hasn't ended.

Brown was asked by newsmen if he would support Unruh for governor if the speaker ran in 1970.

The former governor replied he hadn't made up his mind, adding, "I still don't think he treated me very fairly as governor."

Brown and the powerful Democratic speaker tangled frequently during Brown's second term.

Brown said Unruh also failed to give him any help in his campaign against Reagan.

"He wasn't there," said Brown. "He didn't show up. He deserted the ship of state when it was in trouble."

As for supporting a possible U.S. Senate bid for Unruh next year, Brown suggested the speaker would be more effective in his present job.

Brown raised another potential source of disagreement in the party when he said "I am very seriously considering" putting together a Democratic National Convention delegation next year pledged to President Johnson.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty is interested in leading such a delegation, too. Party leaders trying to prevent a fight are suggesting Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch as a compromise.

Brown shrugged off any senatorial ambitions of Yorty: "I don't think he will run. If he does run, I don't think he'll be elected."

The former governor said Lynch, the only Democrat in statewide office to survive the Reagan sweep last fall, would be a "unifying force" as head of the Democratic congressional delegation next year.

He said Reagan is a "definite" presidential candidate but predicted the governor would be unable to carry California if he won the GOP presidential nod in 1968.

He said the Republican governor was not living up to campaign commitments to cut the state budget and charged that his tax program without payroll withholding of the state income tax was about $500 million higher than needed with withholding.

As to Reagan's political future, Brown said he was "not a very good prophet" because he thought Reagan would lose last fall.

"Any governor of the nation's No. 1 state is a possible candidate for President," Brown said. Later, he went a step farther and said: "He is a definite candidate for President."

But asked if he expected Reagan to win the presidency, Brown replied: "I pray he will not win. His philosophy is one I think is completely invalid."

He said Reagan could not carry California because his first five months in office had resulted in a "real erosion of support," particularly among rank-and-file labor members, the state's employees and the educational community.

Asked to list prospective Democratic candidates next year for the U.S. senate seat held by Republican Thomas H. Kuchel, Brown said he would like to see one of the state's Democratic congressmen, Northern California Democratic Chairman Robert Coate or State Sen. George Miller, among others.

Minority Problem Worst Facing U.S., Finch States

By BARBARA KNEIS

American problems be they Vietnam or racial will not be solved by tuning in, turning on and dropping out, Lt. Gov. Robert Finch said Friday.

Finch, who arrived by helicopter to deliver the commencement address at California State College in Fullerton, urged the 608 graduating students present not to abide by the current hippie craze and not to forfeit their commitment, idealism and courage at a time when all three were needed so desperately.

Verbally circling the world to note trouble spots in Israel and Vietnam, the youthful, cap and gown-clad Republican came back to the states to label the minority problem as "the single great problem."

"If we would fight for freedom, defend it, enjoy it, then we must be prepared to extend it to everyone," he said.

He questioned the rationale that would send Negro Americans to die in Vietnam and then deny them equal opportunities in education, housing and employment.

To those who have said time will resolve the problem, Finch argued there wasn't any.

"The world will not wait for us to set our divided house in order. Americans cannot face the world shoulder-to-shoulder if they cannot work and study and live side-by-side."

Preaching the gospel of political involvement, Finch said the problems facing today's generation can be solved by educated men acting decisively in the political arena.

If the Negroes felt either of the two major parties could offer what he wanted, Finch said, he wouldn't have gone into the street crying black power.

Finch was introduced by Daniel H. Ridder, co-publisher of the Independent Press-Telegram and a trustee for the California state colleges.

Earlier in the ceremonies, Gustave Mathieu, professor of French and German, was announced the outstanding professor of the year.

Abortion Bill Seems Certain of Passage

SACRAMENTO (AP)—An emotion-charged measure to liberalize California's century-old abortion laws is headed for apparent passage.

The Abortion Liberalization Bill—approved by the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee Friday—is scheduled to face its final legislative test Tuesday on the Assembly floor.

Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, said he would support the bill and predicted it would pass.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has promised to sign the measure by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills. It already has passed the Senate.

The bill would legalize abortions necessary to preserve the physical or mental health of the mother. It also would permit termination of pregnancies of girls 14 years of age or younger and of victims of forcible rape and incest regardless of their age. Present law permits abortions only to save the life of the mother.

Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, Assembly manager for the bill, said he planned to call for a vote Tuesday, the earliest possible date. He declined to say how many of the 80 assemblymen have pledged to vote for the bill but he said he was confident it would pass.

Biddle, chairman of the Criminal Procedure Committee, is the author of an identical bill. He has shelved his measure, however, to make way for the Beilenson bill.

As originally introduced, the Beilenson measure would have also legalized abortions in cases where the fetus would probably be born with severe physical or mental handicaps.

But the section was removed when Reagan said it was "only a step away from what Hitler tried to do." The governor said he would sign the bill if that provision was deleted and the maximum age for legal abortions of victims of statutory rape was reduced from 18 to 14.

The measure was endorsed by the Criminal Procedure Committee early Friday after a four-hour hearing that began Thursday night.

Before approving the bill, the committee rejected proposed amendments which Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr., R-Santa Cruz, said would keep California from becoming a haven for "abortion mills."

One of Murphy's proposed amendments would have permitted abortions only on bona fide residents of California. The other would have limited abortions to hospitals with 70 or more beds.

Murphy said he was concerned that small hospitals would be established "to perform abortions and that would be all they would do."

Beilenson said the bill contains sufficient safeguards to prevent abuses. He said it would be "politically impossible" to amend the bill at this stage of the legislative process.

The measure was passed by the Senate last Tuesday by a 21-17 vote, the bare minimum needed for approval in the 40-seat chamber. If the bill is amended in the Assembly, it will have to be returned to the Senate where it might fail. But if it is not amended, it will go directly to the governor.

Beilenson said the measure would not result in more abortions than are performed now. He said it would only legalize a few of the estimated 100,000 illegal operations performed annually in California.

"We force women and girls who could seek expert medical attention from their own physicians to go to quacks or try to abort themselves," Beilenson argued.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh said Friday that his former administrative assistant, Larry Margolis, has been appointed to a $30,000-a-year post on the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures.

MINORITY TEACHER RATIO

Segregation Eyed in Schools

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The first state racial census of nearly 300,000 public school employees disclosed Friday that one out of 12 California teachers is from a minority group.

And these educators can be found primarily in urban schools of impoverished districts with heavy concentrations of minority students, the state Board of Education was told. By contrast, the report stated, minority racial and ethnic groups account for one out of every four students in California's public schools.

The survey was conducted last October to determine compliance with state policies prohibiting segregation and discrimination in the schools and junior colleges.

"Our schools have not solved the problems of recruiting, assigning and promoting teachers of all races and ethnic backgrounds on an equal basis," said Armando Rodriguez, chief of the state Department of Education's Intergroup Relations Bureau.

The survey showed that minority groups account for 8.5 per cent of the teachers, 4.2 per cent of the principals and 7.4 per cent of the other certified personnel such as superintendents and counselors. Of the 193,404 persons in these categories, 91.8 per cent are Caucasians without Spanish surnames, 1.6 per cent are Orientals, 2 per cent are other non-whites and 1 per cent are American Indians.

IN THE EIGHT largest districts which employ most of the minority group teachers, 85 per cent of the Negro teachers and 57 per cent of the Oriental teachers are in predominantly minority schools.

"The result is racial and ethnic separation of staff, of de facto segregation of students," Rodriguez said.

He recommended an increase in the number of "qualified minority personnel" and distributing them more widely throughout California schools.

The survey also disclosed:

—There are no Negro educators in 22 of 58 counties and fewer than 10 in 13 counties.

—Poverty area schools receiving compensatory education funds have higher percentages of minority group teachers. In such elementary schools, Negroes comprise 31 per cent of the teachers compared with 2.4 per cent in the rest of the state's elementary schools.

—Since 1940, "a slow but steady increase" has occurred in the percentage of minority group teachers. Negro teachers have increased from .2 per cent in a 1940 federal census to 4 per cent while nonwhites went from 7 per cent in 1940 to more than 2 per cent in 1966.

After hearing the report, the board ordered Dr. Wilson C. Riles, director of compensatory education, to prepare a program aimed at securing more persons from racial minority groups for the school system.

Death Penalty Slated for Full-Scale Review

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker Friday granted the American Civil Liberties Union the right to a full-scale hearing on the constitutionality of California's death penalty law, including use of witnesses.

ACLU attorney A. L. Wirin, who requested the Sept. 5 hearing, said he would present a parade of experts to prove his contention that capital punishment is cruel and unusual punishment in violation of both the state and federal constitutions. Walker ordered the hearing in the case of Robert Emmett Thornton, 23, Bellflower, Thornton, an aircraft worker, was condemned to death last April 19 on a conviction of kidnapping involving rape and robbery.

The judge's decision will allow, for the first time, courtroom testimony attacking California's death penalty. Wirin said the ensuing legal battle might continue on to the U.S. Supreme Court.

nations promised to "do everything that is necessary to help the people of the Arab countries deal a decisive blow" against Israel if the Israelis do not comply with the ultimatum. The statement did not exclude the possibility of military intervention, although it did not specify action.

The most dramatic news came Friday night from Cairo when Nasser, the 48-year-old leader of the Arab holy war against Israel, said on nationwide radio and television that he was resigning because of "grave setbacks" on the battlefields.

"I am assuming full responsibility for this tragedy," Nasser said. "I have decided to abandon, completely and forever, all my official functions and return to the ranks of the people."

The statement hit Egypt like a bombshell and touched off a wave of demonstrations in support of Nasser. Crowds streamed through the streets of Cairo, screaming "We Want Nasser!" and converged on Nasser's residence in suburban Helwan.

A Cairo television announcer went on the air, tears streaming down his face, and pleaded with Nasser to stay on. A youth climbed to the roof of a building in Alexandria, shouted "Long live Nasser!" and jumped off. He was critically injured.

Four hours later, in another broadcast, Nasser said he was "profoundly touched" by the wave of support and indicated he was reconsidering and would discuss the matter with the national assembly this morning.

AMID THE UPROAR, the national assembly and the cabinet met in emergency session and rejected Nasser's resignation, hailing him as "a hero."

"Your attitude is the very image of heroism, declared a resolution adopted by the assembly. "You have taken a responsibility which is not yours but ours, that of all a people which seeks freedom and dignity. "Our people is, today more than ever, in need of your leadership."

World Law Justified by War Threat

Until there is a world government with a police force there is danger of war anywhere at any time, William Winter, news commentator, told the Institute of Lifetime Learning Friday.

The United States and Russia avoided a confrontation, the greatest danger of the Mideast war, but the tensions between Arabs and Israel remain grave, he pointed out.

"The trouble with the United Nations today is that it resembles our own Articles of Confederation in the early part of our history," he said. "Each state could do as it pleased in those days."

"Today the world is looking forward to the time when we are mature enough to accept world government -- with power to punish and stop individuals who are dangers to society."

"When the United Nations ceases to be a 20th century Continental Congress then we may have world peace."

Winter's lecture concluded the Institute's spring quarter. It also closed the season at the old headquarters, 501 E. Ocean Blvd. The Institute will reopen on Oct. 11 in its new location in the Times Building, headquarters of the Association of Retired Persons.

reply from Nasser to the resolution, but it was generally believed that he would remain as president. There was speculation that Nasser announced his resignation as a trial balloon to test his strength in the aftermath of the crushing Israeli victories over Egyptian forces on the Sinai desert.

In Baghdad, the Iraqi cabinet issued a statement pleading with Nasser to stay in office "to lead the next battle against Zionist imperialism."

Egyptian Sinai and most of Jordan west of the River Jordan were under firm Israeli control Friday as the focus of the war shifted to the northern front between Israel and Syria.

Jordanian authorities said 15,000 Jordanian troops and civilians were killed in five days of fighting that included Israeli capture of the ancient Holy City of Jerusalem.

Syria charged that the Israelis invaded with planes, tanks and ground troops and Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N. truce supervisory organization, reported to Thant that the Israelis used napalm in an attack on the Syrian village of Snufoiy.

ISRAELI MILITARY spokesmen reported destroying Syrian gun emplacements on the Syria side of the frontier north of the Sea of Galilee after Syria launched a massive attack on Israel.

At 11:38 p.m. PDT, Syria announced acceptance of a second U.N. demand for a cease-fire but the fighting continued, and the U.N. issued a third call for a truce, demanding evidence of the cease-fire by 6:30 p.m.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol said Israel is committed to a cease-fire with Syria "and will scrupulously respect it if the other side will do the same."

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli military spokesman reported that Israeli warships sank an undisclosed number of Egyptian naval vessels in battles near Alexandria and Port Said earlier this week. He said Israeli destroyers dropped depth charges on and damaged an Egyptian submarine in Haifa, an Israeli port on the Mediterranean.

Related developments by datelines:

CAIRO — Police and soldiers fired grenades into the air Friday night to drive back demonstrating mobs marching on downtown Cairo and a furious anti-aircraft barrage lit up the sky. The Egyptian Ministry of Information said an air raid was in progress. However, there were no signs of any planes in the skies and no bombs were dropped on Cairo up to 11:30 p.m.

ALGIERS — Angry Algerians launched attacks on Egyptian diplomatic and commercial centers here Friday in protest against Cairo's acceptance of a cease-fire in the Mideast war.

BEIRUT — Thirteen thousand refugees from Palestine were encamped around the Jordanian capital of Amman Friday after fleeing from the Israeli army.

LOS ANGELES — Flights to Tel Aviv, Israel, from Los Angeles that were disrupted when war broke out last Sunday in the Mideast were resumed Friday, TWA announced.

SAN FRANCISCO — A secretary at the Arab Information Center here reported numerous threatening and insulting telephone calls. Miss Conchita Alvarez said she had the door of the information center locked after "all those threatening phone calls." She said the callers were "insulting—I would rather not repeat them." At times, she said, when she answers the phone the Israeli national anthem blares out.

TEL AVIV, Israel — The lights of Tel Aviv came on Friday night for the first time since the Mideast war began. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban returned to Tel Aviv from New York and called the Israeli-Arab war "our nation's finest week." He indicated that Israel intended to hold some of the territory it seized. "Israel will not squander her opportunities," he said.

MOSCOW — An unprecedented display of Soviet army and police power held some 1,500 angry Arab, Cuban and North Vietnamese students back from the American and British embassies Friday, turning a Middle East demonstration into a rain-soaked display of frustration. "Johnson is a dog," the demonstrators chanted as they marched one and a half miles through the heart of Moscow between the two embassies. Riots swirled among the students as some tried to rally their comrades to storm the army and police picket lines.

UNITED NATIONS — Secretary-General U Thant quoted the Irish chairman of the U.N.-sponsored Israeli-Syrian Mixed Armistice Commission Friday as saying Israel had used napalm in attacks Friday against Syria. Thant said Lt. Col. R. H. W. Bunworth of Ireland reported that "bombing, use of napalm and strafing has been continuous" from 3:46 a.m. Friday up to 8:18 a.m., the time of the message. In Jordan, a hospital commander, a colonel who refused to give his name, said the Israelis had dropped napalm on field hospitals near Jerin and Nablus, Jordan. "Hundreds of people, both soldiers and civilians, have been killed or wounded by napalm alone," he said.

NEW YORK — The first planeloads of American refugees from the Middle East arrived Friday, many of them babies in the arms of travel-weary mothers. One Trans World Airlines jet landed at Kennedy Airport with 166 persons aboard, mostly children of military dependents from Libya. Five other planes were coming in from the Middle East at McGuire Air Force Base near Ft. Dix, N.J., also carrying military dependents, an Air Force spokesman said. Also arriving at Kennedy were about 150 women and children, families of American employees of the Arabian American Oil Co., in Saudi Arabia.

LOS ANGELES — The Rev. Dr. Carroll L. Shuster, president of the Council of Churches of Southern California, withdrew Friday from the planned "Rally for Israel's Survival" Sunday in Hollywood Bowl. Shuster said the rally's purpose had changed from "A call for peace... to a celebration of victory." Gov. Reagan and Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty are scheduled to participate.

an impartial investigation of the Arab-Israeli charges and urging the U.N. to give him machinery to carry out the task.

Egyptian, Syrian and Israeli delegations cited reports that bombing and artillery attacks continued despite the U.N. peace appeals.

Each blamed the other side for the continuation of hostilities.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called Thant to make the impartial investigation of the charges and counter-charges of cease-fire violations.

But Jordanian Ambassador Muhammad H. el-Farra accused the U.S. of putting the cart before the horse. El-Farra said he had hoped the U.S. would "bring the first issue first" and ask the council to ascertain who started the war in the first place.

FEDORENKO repeated before the council a threat issued earlier Friday by Moscow and its six European Communist allies that they would "render aid" to the Arabs if Israel does not withdraw from the Arab territory occupied in the five-day-old war.

Fedorenko also cited alleged Israeli bombing of Cairo "at the very moment when here in the Security Council, 'Israelis' was making 'hypocritical' statements."

Thant's announcement of Syrian-Israeli acceptance of the new cease-fire order came after the council adopted its third "peace" resolution, and gave Israel and Syria two hours to end their resurgent fighting.

Nitro-Threat Thug Faces Life Term

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James Homer McCoy, who robbed a bank by threatening to blow it up with nitroglycerin, got off with a six-month sentence Friday—but there is a catch.

He must return to Texas to resume a 175-year term for kidnapping and robbery, on which he already has served more than 26 years. McCoy is 64 and looks older.

Last April 10, McCoy, a tall, stoop-shouldered man with thin graying hair, walked into the Golden Gate National Bank on San Francisco's teeming Market Street.

He demanded money, informing a teller that he had a vial of nitroglycerin in his pocket and would not hesitate to detonate it. He said he had terminal cancer and had nothing to lose.

McCoy walked out with $2,772 and returned to his home in Stockton, Calif. He was picked up in Stockton a few days later as a burglary suspect.

Meanwhile a hold order came from Austin, Texas, naming McCoy as a parole violator.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House reaffirmed Friday the U.S. commitment to support the territorial integrity of all nations in the Middle East. It refused to discuss how this position might be affected by Israel's conquest of Arab territory.

The statement came as Secretary of State Dean Rusk told senators at a private briefing that "we have a lot to do" to get an effective ceasefire in the Mideast.

Rusk, in a two-hour session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also expressed hope—shared by several senators—that the Mideast conflict would speed a disarmament agreement and lead to "some ceiling" on arms shipments to world troublespots.

White House Press Secretary George Christian told newsmen that President Johnson's May 23 commitment to support territorial integrity in the Middle East "was the government's position then and is the government's position now."

Asked how the U.S. position might be affected by Israeli ground gains in the war, Christian replied: "I don't want to get into the particulars of any peace negotiations which might develop in the U.N. or between and among participants in the conflict."

"Matters of territorial integrity of the states three, the future of the Strait of Tiran... this and all the other issues between the Arab countries and Israel are at the heart of the effort that will be made in days ahead to build a just and durable peace in the Middle East," Christian added.

Christian's statement appeared to indicate that the U.S. guarantee covered the general territorial integrity of each country, but was elastic enough to permit adjustments if the two sides could agree on them.

When newsmen asked whether U.S. policy involved efforts to get the Israelis and Arabs to sit down together and negotiate, Christian said that "the exact method of reaching a settlement is a subject that is reasonably open at this time."

He emphasized, however, that "we have favored the U.N. all through this crisis and still do."

Rusk, after his meeting with the Senators, refused to speculate on any Mideast border adjustments as a result of the Israeli victory over the Arabs.

He likewise declined to say whether he thought the Mideast conflict would have any effect on the Vietnam war. He said the United States was "in touch with many governments" on Vietnam but had to "deal with one question at a time."

PASADENA (CNS) — A 23-year-old woman convicted of killing Kenneth Mack Robinson, nephew of former baseball great Jackie Robinson, was found innocent by reason of insanity Friday.

Miss Carie Casco was convicted of voluntary manslaughter last Saturday for beating Robinson over the head with a cast-iron frying pan and repeatedly stabbing him with a knife.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

D. E. Dunbar in New Court

Compton Municipal Court Judge Donald E. Dunbar Friday was elevated to the Los Angeles Superior Court by order of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The announcement, from Sacramento, pointed out that Judge Dunbar, of 1610 Carter Lane, Compton, had served for three years on a "by assignment" basis on various Superior Court benches including one three-month period on the Long Beach Superior Court bench in 1959.

Dunbar is a native Californian, was raised in Paramount, attended Compton High School and graduated from USC Law School. He practiced law in Compton prior to his initial appointment to the California bench 13 years ago by then-Gov. Earl Warren.

Judge Dunbar's wife Rosemary is planning director for the USC Law Center; the couple has five children.

Downey Hospital Bids Sought

Bids for construction of the multi-million-dollar Downey Community Hospital are being sought by the city's Municipal Hospital Authority, its chairman, C. Larry Hoag, said Friday.

Over-all cost of the hospital — to be constructed on a 12-acre site on Brookshire Avenue between Manatee and Margaret streets — is estimated at about $5.8 million. The cost of the 152-bed facility itself is estimated at approximately $3.7 million.

Bus Crash Injures Pair

Lawson Swihart, 60, and his wife, Violet, of 933 Alamos Ave., Apt. 8, were injured Friday when the Greyhound bus in which they were riding plunged off a dead-end construction lane a mile east of Redding, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The Long Beach couple and three other persons, all passengers on the Sacramento-bound bus, were taken to Redding Memorial Hospital where they were reported in good condition.

The bus plunged down an eight-foot embankment after leaving the dead-end lane.

River Channel Job Launched

Work on the deepening and stabilization of the San Gabriel River channel from Cecilia Street in Downey to the Whittier Narrows is underway, according to Downey Public Works Director Ervin Spindel.

Spindel said Friday that the James L. Kirst Construction Co. of Altadena, contractor for the $5.31 million project, had already begun work on the job.

Marine Awaits Hearing

Arraignment was pending Friday for a Marine accused of slapping a young sailor with a broken beer bottle in a street brawl.

Pfc. David L. Haney, 20, of 541 Pacific Ave., Wilmington, was booked on suspicion of attempted murder early Friday after the fight at Sixth Street and Atlantic Avenue.

The victim, Ronald B. McDaniel, 20, of the USS Eversole, was in satisfactory condition at St. Mary's Hospital Friday night. He was treated for two large abdominal wounds.

Haney, treated for a broken jaw and face cuts, was taken to the prison ward of Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Long Beach Construction Sours

Paced by $7.9 million in eight "omnibus" permits for Thums Long Beach Co., the city's building valuation for 1967 this year skyrocketed past the $40 million mark.

The permits covered adjustments in oil projects undertaken during the past two years.

Thums Long Beach Co., which is the city's operator for the Long Beach unit of the Wilmington Field, previously had paid fees on work valued at $7.67 million. The permits issued Thursday covered the remaining $7.93 million and involved such things as water injection facilities, storage tanks and retaining walls.

Heaviest Plane of All Takes Off

A huge Douglas four-jet transport took off from Edwards Air Force Base in recent tests at a takeoff weight of more than 180 tons, believed greater than recorded by any other commercial airliner, company officials said this week.

The Long Beach-built DC8 Super 63, now in its second month of flight development toward expected certification in July, weighed 361,150 pounds at takeoff Douglas officials said.

Landing weight for the flight was 355,400 pounds, 5,400 more than design requirements. The big jet was brought to a stop in 3,900 feet, about 400 feet under the 4,300-foot distance called for in original specifications.

The 251-passenger Super 63 has logged 70 hours, 50 minutes of flight time in 73 flights through Wednesday. Orders for the craft total 43 from 13 airlines, with the first plane slated for delivery to KLM Royal Dutch Airlines this summer.

Tired? You Have Plenty of Company

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

Got that tired, dragged-out feeling? It could be that you have iron deficiency anemia, a medical specialist says. If that should be the case, you have plenty of company, the specialist adds.

Iron deficiency anemia, he says, is the most common organic disease known to mankind. That's the contention of Dr. Ernest Beutler, chairman of the division of medicine of City of Hope Medical Center, Duarte. He discussed the ailment Friday in a lecture for doctors at St. Mary's Long Beach Hospital.

Dr. Beutler is one of the nation's authorities on the disorder. He's a consultant to the Committee on Iron Deficiency Anemia of the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association. Iron deficiency is most common in children (reason: iron-poor diet) and women in their child-bearing years (reason: menstrual bleeding). But it may also be a sign of chronic blood loss, brought about by, say, an unsuspected peptic ulcer or bleeding hemorrhoids. Repeated pregnancy can also cause depletion of the body's iron stores and resultant iron deficiency anemia, Dr. Beutler says.

The treatment is iron, and Dr. Beutler prefers the medication approach. It's simpler that way, he says. You would have to eat $124 worth of steak to consume the same amount of iron obtainable in 45 cents worth of iron tablets. He recommends a ferrous sulfate preparation three times a day, before or after a meal, for one year after discovery of iron deficiency anemia. "There is no better drug than ferrous sulfate," he says. "But there are many drugs that are inferior." When it comes to the treatment of iron-deficient children, Dr. Beutler says: "I may be stirring up a hornet's nest in saying it, but it is of no benefit to add vitamins to the iron preparation to treat anemia in a child." Iron deficiency anemia is marked by deficiency of hemoglobin in the red blood cells. Hemoglobin is the pigment in the red blood cells — the substance that carries oxygen to tissues.

CALIFORNIA STATE COLLEGES Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke shakes hands with state's smallest collegiate class, which graduated Friday night at California State College, Dominguez Hills.

Lined up next to Dumke are Sharon Chambers, Othilie Moritz, Pamela Striplin and William Hart, who composed first graduating class in school's short history.

Dominguez College Graduates — All Four — Hear Heilbron

By GEORGE LAINE
Demonstrators who "substitute insult for argument" have no place on a college campus and neither do drug-filled dreamers, California State Colleges trustee Louis H. Heilbron told the first graduating class of California State College, Dominguez Hills, Friday night. The four graduates represented the smallest college commencement exercise in the state. They were easily outnumbered by the audience, which totaled about 250.

Heilbron — who was the first chairman of the college board of trustees — lashed out at student demonstrators and drug devotees during his commencement address which also summarized the short but impressive history of the Dominguez Hills campus. He lauded the ideals of liberal education, praised the manner in which academic balance had been achieved after the cry for technology went up following Sputnik's ascent, and heaped an accolade on Dominguez Hills' educational innovations, many of which he described as having been seized by other educational institutions across the nation.

HEILBRON'S ATTACK on student demonstrators was among the strongest he has ever used in his long tenure as a trustee. He cited a situation at one state college in which the inauguration of the school's new president was picketed. The demonstration was against the college policy of making student class records available to Selective Service boards, an issue not directly related to the ceremony, he said. "This group of young people," Heilbron said, "was perfectly willing to interfere with the right of the vast majority to hear and learn so long as it exercised its own right of freedom of speech." Heilbron said that while he supports student rights to meet in forum or to protest whatever they feel is wrong, "standards of responsibility, procedure and good taste must apply" to their methods. His attack on drug users on campus was less cautiously worded. Heilbron specified that he was speaking of "a minority of students," but he charged that their retirement into "a world of drugs and dreams" was merely an effort to evade the realities of the academic world and the world outside. BOTH GROUPS — the demonstrators and the drug users — "seem to have turned their backs on the values of a liberal education," Heilbron said. The four graduates came in for special attention from Heilbron, who lauded their past achievements and praised their future aims. Two, he pointed out — Sharon Chambers and Othilie W. Moritz — are on the Dean's Scholars list. Pamela Striplin plans to return immediately to the Dominguez Hills campus to begin graduate work. And William Hart, president of the student body at Dominguez Hills, expects to return to school, too — probably as a dean of students at some college or university, Heilbron noted.

Exploiting Subsea Wealth Opens Dispute Prospects

Prospects of future dispute between nations with extensive seacoasts and others with the technology to exploit the world's subsea wealth were placed before final business sessions of the National Institute on Marine Resources in Long Beach. Charles F. Luce, U.S. undersecretary of the interior, examined the problems, including an Idaho senator's plan for United Nations supervision, at a banquet meeting in the Lafayette Hotel.

Luce told the Institute, which ends today, that "it will require the best efforts of the keenest minds that can be assembled to answer the questions inherent in the proposals such as that of Sen. Frank Church to give the UN the vested title to develop marine resources." He also told the Thursday banquet that few nations would agree to the erection of foreign structures near the coastline. Luce stated that many seacoast countries, such as the United States, might have to yield some rights that they already have asserted. The undersecretary cited an example: The U.S. has claimed sovereign rights to the seabed for some distance from its coast by granting a phosphate lease on the 40-mile bank offshore from California, and has threatened litigation against creation of a proposed man-made island by private parties on the Cortez Bank 50 miles from Catalina Island. He indicated these rights could be stripped from the U.S. should an international regulatory agency assume jurisdiction and control of the ocean's bounty and resources.

Kirschke Indictment Waited by Defense

Indictment of Dep. Dist. Atty. Jack Kirschke for the murder of his wife and a male companion is a foregone conclusion, Kirschke's attorney, Albert C. S. Ramsey, said Friday, though Los Angeles County Grand Jury hearing will continue Tuesday.

Ramsey said he is already preparing to surrender Kirschke for arraignment Wednesday, but will seek his client's release on bail.

ASKED WHY HE THOUGHT the jury would indict, Ramsey said:

"Because at the end of the hearing, the attorney general will say, 'We think there is evidence enough to indict,' and the jury will then indict."

Kirschke, who has maintained he was on his way to a convention in Las Vegas when Mrs. Elaine Terry Kirschke and Orville William Drankham were shot in the Kirschkes' Naples apartment April 8 was arrested, but released for lack of evidence.

County's Slashes Damage IBC, Fishing Fiesta, etc.

Results ranging from oblivion for their organization to minor adversity were foreseen Friday by spokesmen for Long Beach area activities as county supervisors eliminated or reduced financial aid.

The supervisors struck out entirely four traditional allocations to the area and cut two others sharply as they topped more than $1 million from the county's recommended $1.2-billion 1967-68 budget.

Washed out were $15,000 for the International Beauty Congress, $2,500 for the Long Beach Safety Council, $1,500 for Lakewood's Pan American Festival and $5,000 for Downey Museum of Art.

The San Pedro Fisherman's Fiesta was cut from $15,800 to $7,500 and Long Beach Museum of Art from $25,000 to $10,000.

The fishermen's event went in the red last year even with $15,800 county aid, said a spokesman.

"This may kill the fiesta," said the source, on condition that his name not be used. He said the board of directors will meet soon to consider the bleak outlook for the nonprofit event.

Wayne Dailard, director of the IBC, saw serious effects in the county's withdrawal of support from the bi Long Beach pageant.

"We are disappointed. Naturally this will have an effect on our plans and operation," said Dailard. "We hope they will change their stand."

Jason Wong, director of the Long Beach Museum of Art, said, "This is devastating and incredible. After paying the curator's salary, which must be taken from these funds, it relegates our exhibition, which we prepare for the county, to the meanest proportions."

Sharp controversy was certain to result from the cuts, made on the first day of public hearing on the budget. None of the action taken will be official until the supervisors adopt the final budget.

RESISTING EFFORTS OF Supervisor Kenneth Hahn to cut to zero the support of the fishermen's event, Supervisor Burton W. Chace commented, "This is an industry which contributes greatly to the economy of the county."

At the Long Beach Safety Council, E. H. Steinmetz, executive director, said loss of county help was "not unexpected, though they hadn't given us any indication of it." He said the council will seek greater help of service organizations for specific safety programs and try to enlarge its membership to make up for lack of county support.

"It's not to be taken lightly," said Steinmetz. The supervisors eliminated a $84,357 contribution that was recommended for the All Year Club.

IN LAKEWOOD, PAN AMERICAN Festival President Fred Sanchez said the festival's cut will not affect the staging of the city's big Latin friendship program next year.

Funds from the county were $1,125 last year. "The money was used to help promote the program outside the city. You can be sure we'll pursue our regular program, which requires primarily the work of our organization and the support of the community," he said.

The supervisors balked at removing entirely contribu-

Solons Fight Freeway Numbers-Name Battle

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — San Gabriel River Freeway Friday won its first victory over numbers-only bureaucrats.

Senate Transportation Committee, prodded by Southland legislators, approved a bill to name it officially the San Gabriel River Freeway. State highway bureaucrats officially have dubbed it Route 605.

The San Gabriel bill, by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, now goes to Senate Finance Committee.

It must receive a fiscal clearance because of the cost of adding the San Gabriel name to Route 605 signs.

The Deukmejian bill previously was taken under submission by the committee—a device often used to kill a bill. However, the measure was revised after legislative pressure from Southern California lawmakers.

The state Public Works Department, where bureaucrats champion the numbers-only designation, is battling the measure.

HEART-ATTACK PATIENTS' Life-Saving Units Could Be Better

New intensive-care units, established in hospitals specifically for the care of heart-attack patients are saving "hundreds and hundreds" of lives, a noted heart specialist said in Long Beach Thursday.

Yet many more lives could be saved if such units were improved and enlarged, said the specialist, Dr. George C. Griffith, professor at USC School of Medicine.

Dr. Griffith, recently awarded the Gifted Teacher Award by the American College of Cardiology, addressed the annual meeting of Long Beach Heart Association in Petroleum Club.

Reviewing "The Spectacular Advances in Cardiovascular Disease in My Lifetime," Dr. Griffith said that coronary artery disease — the cause of heart attacks — was once considered part of the aging process.

"But it's not," he said. "We know today that it's a preventable disease."

HE SAID THE NEW CONCEPT of coronary-care units is excellent but that such units should be expanded in most instances.

He said he knew of two deaths just last week that possibly could have been prevented if the victims had been under observation in an up-to-date intensive-care unit.

Of all the advances in the battle against heart disease, one of the greatest, he said, has been the development of new radiological methods of viewing defects in the living human heart.

The ability of medical specialists to pinpoint defects by new X-ray procedures has proved to be of tremendous value, he said.

Such procedures, he said, have led to new surgical operations in which arterial implants can be positioned to give the heart muscle blood denied to it by an obstruction in a coronary artery.

Dr. Griffith said that 90 per cent of victims of congenital heart defects can now be helped by surgery.

"But we are only on the threshold of new developments," he predicted.

Father and Son at War, Reunited

By HAL LOWE

Carl Kemper, 4603 Village Road, Long Beach, has found a way to keep tabs on his 20-year-old son, Clifford, an Army private first class — they both work in the same headquarters in Saigon.

"Our meeting was pure coincidence," commented the older Kemper. As an assistant Post engineer for the U.S. Army Headquarters' Area Command's director of installations, Kemper Senior has been in Vietnam since August, 1966.

Former owner of Kemper Construction Co. the 44-year-old Kemper started his civilian Army career officially in Sept., 1966. Wanting to offer his extensive construction experience to the Vietnam effort, he asked for assignment to the Far East.

A JORDAN HIGH School and Long Beach City College graduate, Clifford enlisted in the Army one month after his Dad arrived in Vietnam. He was told he would receive a European assignment after finishing basic training at Fort Lee, Virginia. It didn't work out that way.

"First I got a letter from Clifford telling me that he was coming to Vietnam instead of going to Europe," Kemper recalls. "This was quite a surprise, but I didn't get my hopes up, Vietnam has a lot of command posts."

"One night I got a phone call and the voice said 'Hi, Dad!'. The connection was exceptionally clear, so I asked Clifford where he was. It seems he was phoning from my headquarters in Saigon where he was going to be stationed. It was a pleasant jolt."

Pfc. Kemper, a supply clerk in the USAHAC's headquarters detachment, sees his dad quite often and the pair have found time for several Saigon sight-seeing excursions together.

Week's Wall Street Trend

By NEWTON D. ZINDER
With E. F. Hutton & Co.

The market at the close Thursday bore little resemblance to what existed barely ten minutes earlier. At that time, it was announced that Egypt had accepted the United Nations call for a cease-fire and the market, which up to then had displayed only narrow price changes in dull trading, was immediately subjected to a deluge of buy orders. Moving ahead rapidly on a broad front, the list closed on a very firm note with as sharp increase in volume causing the tape to run well behind floor transactions.

The popular industrial averages, which were barely in plus territory when the cease-fire news broke, closed with healthy gains and the rails, which had been lower all day, also closed with a gain, enabling the Dow-Jones rail average to reach a new recovery high for the third straight session.

AS IT HAD all week, the Middle East news dominated the market earlier in Thursday's session as well as near the close. Early in the trading, the list trended irregularly, in part no doubt due to a need to consolidate some of the gains since Monday's lows but also in response to the news that heavy fighting was again raging in the Sinai Peninsula. However, later on when it was announced that Israel had scored gains in several tank battles, the market gradually turned firmer and the cease-fire news pushed the list ahead on a broad front.

With each passing day since it reversed direction at the end of the first hour on Monday, there is additional evidence that the market made an important low that day that is not likely to be penetrated or even threatened for some time. Thursday, the behavior of the market during the early consolidation was most encouraging, especially since it occurred against the background of the heavier fighting in the Sinai, the sharp gains that many issues had scored since Monday, news of a congressional rejection of a debt limit increase, and reports of reduced capital spending plans by business for 1967. Nevertheless, most issues gave ground grudgingly and on very light volume.

TO FURTHER enhance the bullish pattern, the late rally Thursday carried the popular industrial averages above another minor recovery peak, this one the sharp one-day rally on May 25. There are still enough near-term problems in the domestic economy and Vietnam to prevent any overexuberance. However, the path of least resistance for the stock market once again seems to be pointed upward.

A few of our favored issues include U.S. Smelting—59%, Chromalloy—American—45%, Philadelphia & Reading—61%, Mead Johnson—34%, Pittston Co.—50%, Texas Gulf Sulphur—129%, which looked particularly strong Thursday, and Anacosta—93%, Eaton Yale & Towne—29—was added to our favored list Friday. This issue, while not usually a rapid mover, has been acting relatively well recently and seems to be poised to break out of a narrow trading range in which it has been confined since late January. There appears to be good chart support around the 26 level.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market this week snipped off a decline of four weeks and posted a good gain on news of the Israeli triumph in the Middle East.

The week began with a jolting loss on first news of the outbreak of hostilities but before Monday was over stocks began to recover. They advanced every day thereafter although on the last two trading days the rise was moderate. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week advanced 3.8 to 323.3, making its biggest weekly rise since the week ended April 22 when it gained 4.3.

The Dow Jones Industrial average rose 11.58 to 874.89.

Volume was 48,544,801 shares compared with 32,566,910 in the four-day trading week previous, shortened by the Memorial Day observance.

In the war-torn atmosphere of Monday, the Dow industrials dropped 20.77 points in the first hour. If that loss had remained, it would have been the steepest slide since the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963 when the Dow fell 21.16.

With fear at its worst and prices at their weakest on Monday, the cool professionals began to pick up cheap stock. For every one of the 11 million shares sold on Monday there was a buyer.

These were professional, specialists on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, floor traders, steady-nerved executives of the fast-stepping "performance" mutual funds and even many of the experienced small investor.

The small investor on Monday bought more stock than he sold, as reflected by odd-lot statistics sales and purchases in less than 100-share lots.

By Tuesday morning, the bandwagon was rolling along noisily on the basis of Israeli victories and the lessened likelihood of United States involvement. Less sophisticated investors paraded into the market and the "smart money" people who had the astuteness to buy Monday when things looked blackest to the amateurs began to feed out stock at a profit.

Although slowing down, the market bandwagon rolled up another nice gain on Wednesday. By this time, a big market killing had been made by the pros.

There were additional flurries on news of Egypt's acceptance of a cease-fire and the resignation of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, but Wall Street was reacting more sluggishly.

Episcopal Bishop's Proposal on Pope Wins Little Support

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myers of San Francisco was speaking for a rather small minority when he called upon Anglicans and Protestants to acknowledge the Pope as "the Holy Father in God of the universal church."

Bishop Myers made his startling excommunion proposal last Sunday in a sermon preached before an overflow congregation in San Francisco's Grace Cathedral. In a troubled and war-torn world, he said, Christians urgently need one leader "who can speak and witness to the whole human race" as "chief pastor of the Christian family."

The sermon made newspaper headlines across the country. But that's about as far as it's likely to go, at least for the present.

It is generally agreed among those closest to the ecumenical movement—Catholics as well as Protestants—that the time is not yet here, nor even distant, in sight, when the papacy can become a rallying point for Christian unity.

ON THE contrary, nearly all ecumenists, on both sides, share the view expressed by Pope Paul VI in a talk before the Secretariat of Christian Unity in Rome last month. The Pope said, ruefully, that the papacy today is clearly "the gravest obstacle in the path of ecumenism."

Some Protestants, and many Anglican and Eastern Orthodox Christians, have indicated in unity discussions their willingness to accord the Pope a "primacy of honor" in recognition of the historic importance of the Roman See. But they have made clear that accepting the Bishop of Rome as "first among equals" does not imply a readiness to acknowledge his authoritative jurisdiction over the whole church.

Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, Presbyterian theologian who served as a Protestant observer at the Vatican Council, said recently that "the fundamental hard-core problem" is the Catholic claim that the Pope is infallible on matters of faith and morals.

"When all the other differences between us have been overcome, this is the one that will remain longest to plague us," said Dr. Brown.

Protestants have not wavered for 450 years in their rejection of papal infallibility. Martin Luther called it "a wicked, base invention for which the papists cannot adduce a little of evidence in support."

Few Protestants today, other than extremely "high church" Episcopalians such as Bishop Myers, would hesitate to say "amen" to Luther's view.

A PROMINENT Lutheran theologian, Dr. Carl E. Braaten of the University of Chicago, stirred a tempest in Protestant circles not long ago by advocating the reunion of Christians under the Pope.

But even so ardent an ecumenist as Dr. Braaten emphasizes that certain conditions would have to be attached to any Protestant rapprochement with the Pope.

"There is one fundamental condition," he told UPI on commenting on Bishop Myers' sermon. "The structure of the papacy must be revised to make it acceptable to all Christians. This could be done, I believe, if ways could be found to transcend or supersede the doctrine of papal infallibility and the claim that the primacy of the Pope rests on divine institution rather than historical developments."

The Catholic Church has made it crystal clear, however, that it has no intention of abandoning either of these claims. The Vatican Council, while acting to decentralize the government of the church by giving greater powers to bishops, emphatically re-affirmed both the supremacy and infallibility of the Pope.

AND POPE Paul, in acknowledging last month that the papacy is the chief stumbling block to unity, hastened to add that no Pope can surrender the claims "which come from the function that Christ assigned to us in the church, and which our tradition has sanctioned with such authority."

Ecumenists see little hope for an early resolution of the impasse.

"It is not resolvable in any humanly foreseeable way," Dr. Brown told a reporter. "You can't even think in terms of compromise for there is no halfway house between accepting and rejecting infallibility. There's no such thing as being 'a little bit infallible.'"

AREA RECTORS' VIEWS

Rectors of Episcopal churches in Long Beach queried by this paper had varying reactions to Bishop Myers' sermon, though generally favorable to what they considered his broad intent.

Rev. Samuel I. Hall, St. Luke's:

I think his statement has to be understood in perspective. He is concerned with the ecumenical future of the church and certainly we realize there can be no truly ecumenical movement which does not take into consideration the Roman Catholic Church.

Anglicans (Episcopalians in America) would be quite willing to accept the Pope as a patriarch of the western church with perhaps the same relation to the church that the Archbishop of Canterbury now has with all Anglicans.

I think there is great merit in having the leadership of the church expressed in terms of a leadership figure. The bishop is not envisaging unity with Rome under the current concepts, such as that of papal infallibility, and where such a large degree of control is vested in the machinery of Rome.

Rev. Michael J. Francis, St. Gregory's:

My thoughts on this are not particularly original. The bishop is speaking of the concept of one family. The Holy Father is a wonderful leader, and accomplishing many wonderful things in furtherance of oneness in Christ. In spite of this, we are not ready to accept him as the single leader.

Speaking for laymen in particular, I would say in order to let the Pope speak for us, we would have to be of one mind with him. This may be true in some things, but certainly not in all things. A month ago, he went to Fatima, in Portugal, and much of it was beautiful. But how many would accept the Mary idolatry?

I think it is a case of Bishop Myers moving too fast. We were doing well in dialogue, and coming close together. But we are not ready for this.

Rev. Richard G. Belliss, St. Anselm's of Garden Grove:

I believe it is a statement which serves a useful purpose, and is certainly worth the consideration of many people. It is something we have to look about. I don't believe many have been thinking about it, now we will begin more seriously to address ourselves to the question.

Dr. David S. Scovill, St. Thomas of Canterbury:

Without having read the full statement, I hesitate to be too specific in my comments on what has been quoted, but there are a number of things to consider.

If the bishop is suggesting, as I strongly doubt, that all Christians should now immediately accept the Pope as our unquestioned spokesman in all matters for Christianity, I would see considerable danger and damage to interfaith activities now in progress in the ecumenical movement. It would be inferred that the rest of us have given over our personal and corporate voices to His Holiness.

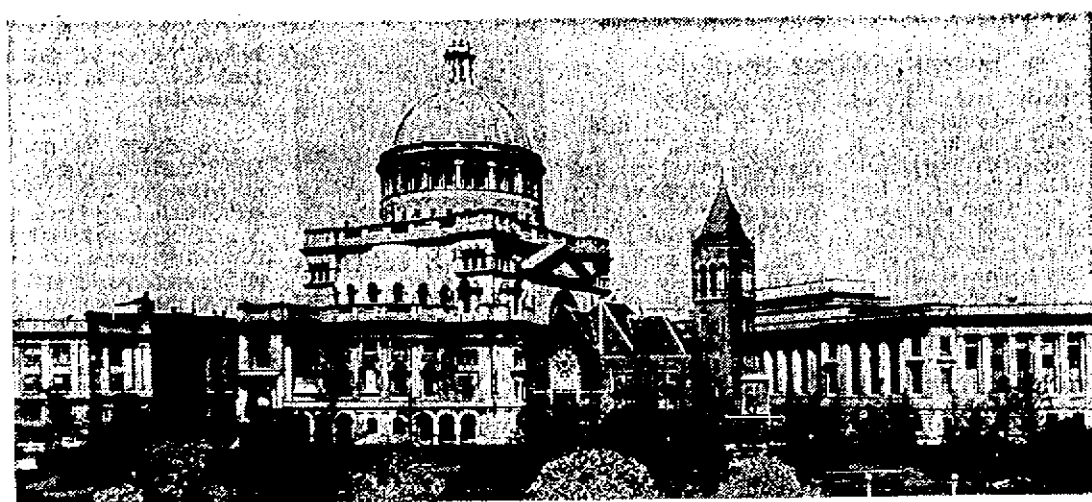

If, however, he is urging that a voice must and should be raised and heard which could speak out to the world expressing Christian concerns in matters of justice, tolerance, peace, brotherhood and morals, then I can think of no voice other than that of the Pope to more appropriately

This was the setting for the annual assemblage this week of Christian Scientists at the Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. Domed building in center is known as The Mother Church Extension (1906). Its auditorium seats 4,000. Nestled against it is the original Mother Church (1895). To the right is part of the publishing house, soon to be joined to a block-long colonnade building, part of a projected $15 million Church Center. A new 26-story Christian Science office building is under way on another part of the property. The convention named Mrs. Beatrice Thayer Pittman, left, president for the coming year, heard a call by Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, and retiring president, for a "deeper involvement with the world."

'More Women Are Needed in Christian Ministry'

By LES RODNEY

A Long Beach mother of four whose ordination Sunday will make local history, hopes her example will encourage others of her sex to move into the Christian ministry.

She is Mrs. Thelma L. Laster, 38, of 3439 Josie Ave. When she takes the vows at 8 p.m. in North Long Beach Christian Church she will be the first woman ever ordained in that church, and one of the very few of the denomination ordained in Southern California.

"There has been strong prejudice against women becoming ministers in the past, and there still is some, and our church has perhaps lagged behind some others in overcoming this," she said this week in a chat with the Independent, Press-Telegram.

"The prejudice, she believes, is historically based on the fact that most of the early leaders of the church, including all the Disciples, were men, "though there were women active in the church's formation," and "on the feeling that women are not strong enough for the tasks demanded of a minister."

"Obviously, I do not agree with this concept," Mrs. Laster said with a smile.

The church desperately needs all the best talent it can get, she says emphatically, and "we shouldn't let sex stand in the way of those capable of doing the job."

She concedes that the tradition of churchwomen as those who carry the baskets, arrange the social affairs, keep the records, etc. is hard to break. (Not that there is anything wrong with these honorable and necessary tasks, she adds.) And she can't honestly say that she sees her own ordination as representing any new trend.

"This is more of an individual thing."

A native of Tonganoxie, Kansas—"just out of Kansas City"—Mrs. Laster recalls a woman evangelist whom she came to know in that town, the daughter of the minister of her home church.

"I believe she had some influence on my determination to do the Lord's work."

After attending the University of Kansas, Mrs. Laster graduated from Long Beach City College, was a 1965 graduate of Pacific Christian College of Long Beach ("a great institution") and attended Fuller Theological Seminary, where she will return for a degree and graduate work. She is currently a prized member of the faculty at Pacific Christian.

Therein lies something of a story - within a story, since the college and the church where she will be ordained are allied to two different trends within the Christian Church. The division in the frontier-born fellowship is, roughly speaking, along the lines of "independent" and "co-operative." The college reflects the former grouping, and the church is a member of the latter, commonly called Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, the larger of the two nationally, though not in Long Beach.

Mrs. Laster feels in a

small way she may be something of a bridge.

"I've worked with both in many capacities with no problems," she says in a sort of cheerful down-to-earth practicality which is perhaps the special gift of women, and can often work wonders where high level pronouncements miss the boat.

The local and personal level, she believes, is where unity is meaningful, and she carries this conviction into some of the larger current disagreements within Christianity.

She is opposed, she explains, to a concept of ecumenism which means formal union between denominations.

"The true unity movement is between individuals through Christ, not through the uniting of church structures," she says.

On the other hand, and here she differs with some others who share the above sentiments, she is all for the work of the National Council of Churches (to which the Disciples of Christ, but not the independent Christian Church, are affiliated.)

"The Council recognizes and values the differences between the various churches, and gives them the opportunity to cooperate in many ways. This is good."

Mrs. Laster believes that the Christian Church, the Restoration Movement as it calls itself, has a unique message and contribution in its emphasis on restoring the purity of New Testament Christianity. "We hold with the Scriptures as the Word of God."

She looks forward to centering her ministry in work with college-age youngsters, in Christian education and counseling.

"Young people are the church of tomorrow," she says. "Unless we work with them, and unless they think for themselves, they will be lost to the church. If you lose the young people you lose the church."

She could become a pastor, though this is not common, and is not her own aim at this point. "Many small churches," she points out, "cannot afford the price of a man pastor, and could well use a qualified woman pastor."

Her husband, August, and teen-age children — one in college, one in Millikan High, and two in junior high — "are with me a hundred per cent in what I am doing," she says with a touch of pride.

"They think it is wonderful."

The family does not share the doubts of some about the potential of women.

"You know," Mrs. Laster said, "some people forget that a couple of Christian denominations were founded by American women — Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, and the Foursquare Church, Alma Semples McPherson. They certainly showed that women can do it if they really want to."

Tributes to Mrs. Laster by those who know her were not hard to obtain. Said C. Tom Stockton, pastor at North Long Beach Christian: "She is a dedicated Christian with fine qualities of leadership, who should be very effective with young people." Dr. Harold W. Ford, academic dean at Pacific Christian College, said "I consider her to be a qualified, personable and capable person and I am sure she will serve effectively and faithfully in any position of Christian service to which she may be called or which she may choose to assume."

do so. The papacy represents a long tradition within the Christian church which has always been respected — even though not followed — and until Christian unity becomes a reality world Christendom has no other international leader. The Pope is the most natural person by reason of his office to be the voice crying in the wilderness of the world and its sins.

Lastly I would venture to suggest that the present pontiff might well be respected for world leadership of Christendom, but many who have held this high office in other days have not merited such confidence. Indeed, the Protestant Reformation took place by reason of the inadequacy of certain popes. Christians must continue to work and pray for the ultimate objective of world brotherhood under God's acknowledged fatherhood, and then one voice can proclaim "Thus Said the Lord." That voice might conceivably be that of the Pope.

Fortune, of St. Theodore of Canterbury of Leisure World, Seal Beach, said he felt he should read the full text of Bishop Myer's address before commenting. Rev. Donald R. Behm of All Saints' could not be reached.)

TOGAKU KURODA

Ordination Set Sunday

Grace Presbyterian Church at 1333 Locust Ave. will be the scene Sunday at 10:30 a.m. of the ordination of one of its members, Togaku Kuroda. Though the church has brought two others into the ministry, Kuroda is the first to be ordained in the home church.

A graduate of Long Beach Poly High, Park College of Missouri, and McCormick Theological Seminary, Kuroda, 29, currently works with the United Presbyterian Dept. of Interpretation and Stewardship in New York.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Winburn Thomas, secretary of the same department, who spent 30 years in Japan, and is the author of several books on Asia. Other participants will be Rev. Leslie Atkinson, UCLA campus minister; Rev. Harold Denhart of Memorial Hospital; Dr. Glenn Whitlock, vocational counselor of the Los Angeles Presbytery; and Rev. Charles McLain of the Southland Council of Churches. Rev. David Nakagawa is the host pastor.

GOINGS ON

Andre Krole, noted magician, will present "The Gospel in Magic" at Monday night's seventh Dave Wilkerson Youth Rally in Melodyland Theater, opposite Disneyland. Last month more than 3,500 young people heard former drug addicts relate the story of their cure. A 50-voice ex-drug addict choir from Teen Challenge will sing, also the Disciples and Linnie Olson's musical group. Doors open at 6:30 with admission free. Long Beach churches interested in providing charter bus service to these rallies are asked to call the sponsors at (714) 776-8890.

The Concert Choir of Millikan College of Tennessee, under direction of Prof. Glenn Owens, former choral director and producer of radio and TV shows for the Armed Forces, will present a concert Sunday, 7 p.m. in First Christian, Fifth and Locust. Millikan is a four-year co-ed Christian liberal arts college with 800 students from 34 states and four foreign lands. . . The same church will host the annual meet of First Union WCTU Monday at 11 a.m. . . Rev. Russell Paulson, who ministers to migrant workers, will tell of his work in Kern County Sunday at all three services in Our Redeemer Lutheran of Garden Grove, 12301 Magnolia Ave. . . The men of Grant Chapel AME will present a banquet and woman's fashion show tonight at 8 in the Lafayette Hotel.

A farewell reception will be held Sunday following the 7 p.m. service at Bellflower Brethren, for Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Thompson and family, after his ministry of 6 1/2 years, during which he was moderator of the Southern California - Arizona District Conference of Brethren Churches. The testimonial type service, held in the auditorium of Ramona School, Clark and Laurel Avenues, will hear those upon whose lives Rev. Thompson has had an effect. He will go to Winona Lake, Ind. as executive in the Foreign Mission Society of the Brethren Church. Rev. Edwin E. Cashman who has been co-pastor, remains as pastor. . . East Long Beach Stake of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will meet Sunday at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. at 1440 Ximeno Ave. to hear Elder John M. Russon and Mrs. Darlene S. Parkinson from Salt Lake City headquarters. . .

'If I Had a Pulpit This Sunday . . . ?

DEAR SIR:

If I had a pulpit this Sunday, here is what I would talk about.

Listening to the United Nations debate on the Middle East crisis, there was one thing missing all around.

The Soviet delegate (fighting the Cold War) spoke in harsh, threatening style about Israel being the aggressor, and hinted at punishment to come. There was no attempt to deal with what Israel had to say — the blockade of her port, Nasser's declaration of annihilation, ordering out of the UN peace force, the alliances and mobilizations aimed at Israel, and Israel's futile attempt to get the international community to honor its commitment to Israel's existence. In fact, the Russians, and those who echoed them, did not in all the torrent of words ever MENTION the blockade and the threats. But sadder than this, and regardless of whether they were right or wrong, the Russian spokesman showed not the slightest hint or glimmer of compassion for the people of Israel, only 20 years after the cattle cars and gas ovens defending a homeland of their own. . .

Then, if I had a pulpit, I would say I also heard the Israeli spokesman, and though he was logical and eloquent, again — not the slightest hint of compassion and understanding for the Arabs, who have been humiliated time and again by the big powers, who feel they have been made the goats for the persecution of Jews by others. No magnanimous Jewish hand stretched out in sorrow and penitence to the teeming Arab refugees who once lived in Palestine — and who should know the bitterness of refugees better than Jews? What a time, and it's not too late, for generosity in a molten moment of history, for perhaps starting the process of alleviating the bitterness.

But one does not yet hear that. The vicious circle:

"He to whom evil is done, does evil."

The Arab spokesmen, would also say, spoke without the redeeming spark of compassion and understanding for the feelings and emotions of their Semitic brothers, the Jews of Israel, not a word or hint of some day, some day, living in peace.

I would then add sorrowfully that before we Americans clucked our tongues at all this, we should turn to our own "box scores" of Viet Cong dead in the villages of that unhappy land, how despite the righteousness of our aims, we grow hardened to death and destruction of people, and sometimes clamor for more. Of it. The other side there, needless to say, is hardly noted for benevolence.

The missing factor everywhere is love. Putting oneself in the other's position. Feeling truly at last that what is done to the least of these others is done to oneself.—A READER.

Bishops Bloy, Kennedy Differ on Myer View

Two prominent Southland religious leaders differed sharply in their reactions to Northern California Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myer's proposal that all Christians recognize the Pope as head of the "universal church."

Right Rev. Francis Eric Bloy, Episcopal Bishop of Southern California, said he agreed with Bishop Myers.

"I feel with Bishop Myers," he said, "that a spiritual leader who could speak for Christendom on matters of our common world life is something which is greatly needed in these turbulent times."

Bishop Bloy added, however, that he realizes the proposal will encounter resistance from "certain Protestant bodies in this country."

Taking another view, Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy said Bishop Myers' proposal will "frighten many people who are ecumenically inclined."

"Many people," Dr. Kennedy said, "are going to think that what he is doing is denying our whole Reformation heritage and taking us back to the Catholic Church. I think the ecumenical movement is marvelous, but I don't think it implies a single spokesman."

He said most Protestants would not welcome the Pope as a spokesman for Christianity.

"When the Pope speaks for peace that is fine, but it's not practical or possible if he got down specifically as to what Americans ought to do in Vietnam, for example," he said.
